Mississippi 1355th is on its way!

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The boys are going. They packed all this week and should be in Alabama sometime late tomarrow.

Ocean Springs is the first stop, as an advance group leaves today to prepare the way for the main body of soldiers.

Once the Bay St. Louis detachment meets with it's Ocean Springs unit, they become a company, the 1355th. They then move on to Fort Rucker, Ala.

From there, we pray, they remain-well.

The order to move out is expected for tomarrow at 10 a.m. Once the order is received, the 82 men and 7 women, assigned to the Bay St. Louis detachment will "headed it up and moved it out."

The unit's route is: McLaurin Street to Hwy. 90, to Hwy. 603 to I-10. Guard members and those seeing them off are asked to park at the K-Mart parking

Friday, at Bay High School, students and faculty bid a tearful farewell to their principal, Roger James. Classes were brought into the auditorium to present James with baskets of thoughts and special wishes. James, emotionally moved by the students' display, spoke to the classes asking that they continue to put their best foot forward in their work.

"I hate to leave," said James,

1355TH—Page 9A Series of woods fires under investigation

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Mississippi Forestry Commission is investigating a series of 11 fires that occurred during the past week on land used by the Lower Devil's Swamp Hunting Club.

County Forester Mark Jamieson said the club's hunting area is owned by International Paper Company. Over the past several days, about 67 acres have suffered moderate fire damage, Jamieson said.

Hunt club president Lee Klein declined to comment on the situation.

Jamieson said the most dangerous of the 11 fires was one that occurred near a dynamite shed owned by the county Port and Harbor Commission.

He added he has some suspects in the fires, which the commission believes to be connected.

Fire Marshal Jay Marsh pointed out that woods arson is a felony, punishable with a fine of up to $1,000 and a prison term of up to two years.

"Fire danger is very high right now because of dry conditions and lack of rain," Jamieson commented.

Marsh said those wanting to burn one acre or more for agricultural, forestry and clearing purposes must have a permit to do so. He also urged that those planning to burn, call the county fire tower before they start and inform the ranger on duty. "This will eliminate the extra expenses of sending out a truck and equipment to check on the fire," Jamieson said.

He added that burning is allowed only for wood and natural wood products.

Jamieson asked that anyone with information about the fires under investigation call him at either 467-4728 or 255-7152.

Waveland's Ward 3 alderman anxious to begin new term

BY JACQUI COCHRAN The Waveland Democratic Primary Election results from Tuesday, Nov. 6, has left one candidate assured of retaining his alderman seat. Curtis "Phil" Colson faces no other challengers in the December 4 general election. Needing to only cast the one obligatory vote to finish the election process, Colson is for all practical purposes, Ward 3 alderman for the next four years. In retrospect over last week's election count confusion, Colson said, "I believe the election was

He reported, "I have touched base with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors concerning the possible citing of select areas along the beachfront in Waveland for the development of parking bays and sidewalks.

I plan to present, to the new Waveland board, a proposed, comprehensive drainage study of Waveland.

added Colson. "I have plans to work further to make sewerage available, particularily, to neglected residental areas.

cial use along Hwy. 90. "I plan to work with the board COLSON—Page 5A

Four generations repair shoes in Waveland

BY JACQUI COCHRAN Directly off of US-90, on Waveland Avenue, in "Our Shopping Center", Jim Elliott taps and stitches his livelihood from the worn shoes of Hancock County residents.

His hands are steadied by the experience of three previous generations of leather craftsmen.

Elliott learned his trade from his father and grandfather, who in turn learned it from theirs. From one generation to another, the Elliott family has taught their sons the skills of shoe and leather repair. Elliott's 12-year-old daughter aspires to law, while his son, who at the age of three is still too small for wishes of tomorrow, observes his father in hopes that a scrap may fall to the ground with which he can play.

"I hope to pass my trade to my son," says Elliott in a relaxed, soft-spoken voice, "making him the fifth generation of Elliotts to follow in the family business."

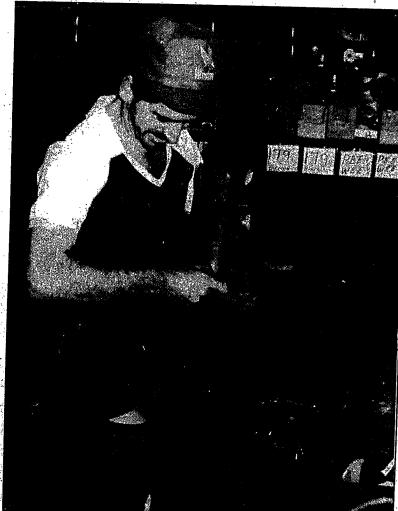

Surrounded by the machin-ery of his grandfather, pieces from the 1930's, 40's and 50's, Elliott describes the type of work his shop accommodates.

"It's mainly soles and heels and re-dying. But, I can do orthopedic work too, you know."

He tells of how one day a customer was complaining of the lack of variety in orthopedic shoes. "He had worn the same style for over 25 years."

The customer expressed a desire to wear a pair of tennis shoes. So, Elliott suggested he bring a pair in and Elliot would copy the build-up needed.

"It worked," he concludes as he displays photos of the shoe before and after the work was

Safety of golfers at local course concerns Diamondhead resident BY TRACI BONNEY

The safety of golfers in Diamondhead briefly took center stage Friday as Patricia Reeb asked the Board of Supervisors about installing a caution light where the Diamondhead Golf Club's cart path intersects Dia-

Investigator David Parker of the Bay St. Louis Police Department reported that Earl Farve, 19, of 649 Kellar St., Bay St. Louis, was arrested on charges of burglary of a commercial building and burglary of an auto.

Farve was arrested following a reported break-in at the Muffler Shop on Hwy. 90 sometime between 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9 and 8 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 10.

Parker said the suspect entered through a fan opening in the rear of the building and broke into a car that was in the shop for repairs. About $1,500 of stereo equipment was stolen, but was later recovered, he added.

Parker said Friday that Farve is in the Hancock County jail under $10,000 bond.

Parker also said a juvenile was arrested in the case and charged with receiving stolen property. He was turned over to Youth Court.

More arrests may be forthcoming, Parker added. By Traci Bonney

EDITORIAL

Waveland voters need to vote again on Tuesday

The qualified electors of the City of Waveland are once again urged to vote on Tuesday.

The election on Tuesday is to choose a Democratic nominee for mayor and also a Democratic nominee for Alderman in Ward One.

In both races there were three candidates in the primary election held two weeks ago, and now there are only two candidates left in each position for the run-off Tuesday.

Every vote will count in Tuesday's run-off elections, so it is important for all qualified electors to make sure they vote for the candidate or candidates of their choice.

Waveland residents should remind their neighbors to vote, and if needed, offer them a ride to the polls, as it is our constitutional right to vote.

Remember, the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue.

Organization to focus on variety of arts

An organizational meeting of the Bay High Fine Arts Association will be held on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Bay High Auditorium.

This meeting will also offer an opportunity for all residents who attend, to get a first hand view of the new beautiful auditorium at Bay High School.

The new auditorium has 600 comfortable theatertype seats, is season controlled and offers a very large stage with the latest types of PA system and lightening.

There are many residents in the area who have many talents and others who may have special talents and not even know it.

It takes a good auditorium for people to show off their talents, and even more so, it takes people with all types of talents to make a Fine Arts Association successful.

This is an opportunity for you, even if you are a youth, to become a part of a group of people who learn what a pro-theater is like.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The talk about town for the past week has been the alert of our Bay St. Louis National Guard Detachment. The unit was later ordered to mobilize and will begin departing today. The Bay St. Louis detachment will join with the Ocean Springs unit to become the 1355th Combat Supply Company.

This is not the first time a Bay St. Louis National Guard Unit has been mobilized for an extended length of time because of the threat of war.

Our National Guard was mobilized in 1961 for the Berlin Crisis and sent to Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Just as in the 1961 group there are many among the men and women being activated this weekend whom we all know.

The anxiety of those left behind is always great, but there is probably more this time because our Guard plays a somewhat different role than in earlier years. Our unit stands a good chance of being sent to take part in "Operation Desert Shield" in the Middle East.

I wish our National Guardsmen the best of luck and hope and pray that a shooting war will be avoided.

I was glad to see the turnout Friday evening for the "Sentenced to Read Program's" building dedication in the old Hancock County Jail.

The remodeling of the facility was done through the courtesy of GE Plastics and employees at Port Bienville.

The Hancock County Youth Program and MINACT, INC., in coordination with Gulf Coast Business Services (JTPA Service Provider), sponsor the "Sentenced to Read Program."

The program primarily targets young adults age 14-21 who are out of school, have no trade and are just on the streets doing nothing.

The program is to help these and others obtain a G.E.D. and skills which will lead to employment.

I know Youth Court Judge Michael D. Haas Sr. has worked very hard to see the renovation completed, and he is thankful to our Hancock County Board of Supervisors, GE Plastics, MINACT, INC., Chancery and Circuit Court Judges, and JTPA Service Provider and others who helped make it a reality.

I wish the program many years of success in the months and years ahead.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

* Resident appreciates county improvements

To the Editor,

As I tavel about in Hancock County, I have noticed many improvements. It is especially gratifying to see those of a more lasting nature such as improved bridges and sealed, blacktopped streets.

The multipurpose building under construction on Longfellow Drive is showing signs of being a very fine building.

It occurs to me that I have seen more improvements over the past two years than I witnessed over the entire period since 1974 when we first purchased a home and began coming to the Bay.

Sincerely yours, Ann Whiddon Bay St. Louis

Hancock Alternative Schooling recognized as charitable group

To the Editor:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I announce that the Hancock County alternative Schooling Association Inc. has been determined to be a tax exempt organization by the Internal Revenue Service.

HCASA is now designated as an organization exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code as an organization described in Section 501(c))3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and also as an organization described in Secions 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(ii) of the code. Further, HCASA is not subject to excise taxes under Chapter 42 of the code.

This means that HCASA may now seek, solicit and accept grants, contributions, donations, gifts, bequests, legacies, devises, transfers, etc., which usually are deductible for federal income, gift, and estate tax purposes... from public and private organizations as well as individual grantors and donors.

We are optimistically hopeful that by mid-summer 1991. HCASA will have been able to obtain adequate grant and other funding from federal, state, county and private grantors and donors to enable establishment of an excellent alternative (non-traditional) school for some 'at risk' students, grade levels seven through 12, next year.

Bertin C. Chevis, M.D. Chairman Board of Directors

Community cannot afford cost, maintenance of dockside gambling

To the Editor:

Gambling is coming to the Coast, but at what cost? In my home county (Hancock) and my hometown (Bay St. Louis) our government leaders believe in and have endorsed dockside gambling.

Although I do agree the longerm effects of dockside gambling will generate some income and have profitable affects for the county and cities where it is being endorsed, I do not think the current residents can afford to pay for the start-up costs and the short-term maintenance of it unless our civic leaders look more closely into the effects it will have on individual communities.

The start-up costs at the one indicated facility for Hancock County, Bay Cove Marina, will not be in the best interest of the current residents and taxpayers of Hancock County or Bay St. Louis.

The access roads are not of the size or specifications to handle the traffic requirement to support the increase of traffic for the people who will go to the gambling facility.

The cost of improving the current facilities will be a burden placed upon current residents, this cost is not known at present. While the burden of road improvements within the city limits and throughout the county do not seem to be high priority items at this time.

The only means of access to the Bay Cove facility are via Blue Meadow Road to Joe's Bayou Road or Dunbar Ave. to Felicity Street, then to Joe's Bayou Road.

The cost of increased police protection for those residents iving along the access routes and near the gambling facilities will have to be picked up by the tax base currently present.

Can you and your neighbors afford more taxes? This does not include the cost to you for increases in traffic police and for control of the transient population that will arrive when and if gambling is approved.

Bay St. Louis and Hancock County have recently reduced the number of police for everyday activities, how will they find the revenue to pay for the required increase of security?

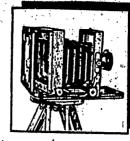

Reserve officers are available for special events, but dockside gambling is not a special event. Who will pay the bills for these increased services?

Who will suffer the consequences if the quality of support we are currently receiving is reduced to overcome the problems that dockside gambling will bring with it? Can we (you) afford these costs?

Do the institutions making the overtures for gambling provide for the increased costs? Should our leaders require these companies provide a nonrefundable security (bond) before they get started?

These are just a few of the issues that need to be addressed before we approve and vote to allow any form of gambling in

Profusion of autumn leaves could draw visitors to area

Dear Editor:

Tourists by the thousands flock to Vermont in Fall to view foliage colors—generates millions in business.

Why not make the Bay-Waveland area such an attraction for thousands of others who have neither the time nor inclination for such a long trip!

Hwy. 90 and other major streets could be planted with shrubs and trees which turn magnificent colors at this time of year. To those who say it can't happen here, I urge you drive Hwy. 49 up to Hattiesburg right now. You'll find such vivid hues of yellow to gold, orange to rust and brown, all sorts of reds. even greens and white.

Sunlight and a breeze make colored leaves sparkle and lance; you become intoxicated by their beauty, can't see enough in just one day. Nursery tree stock costs only pennies per tree, so a few dol-lars invested now would turn our area into a place of glorious fall colors, rivaling Mobile's azalea trail or the splendor of Vermont in Fall. The chamber, Kiwanis, Rotary and garden clubs might join together with a fundraiser for trees. Perhaps area churches would have a special collection one Sunday. The cities and county could furnish the labor to plant the colors to form the most beneficial array. All of us would be rewarded with beauty, tourists attracted like a magnet.

I'll donate the first dollar, do I hear a second, third or thousand?

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

The traditional Thanksgiving Fests of the Pilgrims in early America included, in addition to wild game and fish, a variety of fruits, nuts and vegetables, we are told; so don't forget these items when you're combing our area supermarkets for bounty for the traditional holiday feast!

Drawing both from America's crops, such as walnuts, chest-nuts, plums, pumpkins, squash, crab apples, corn and wild onions, and also from the English vegetables, carrots, lettuce, radishes, beets, turnips, rutabagas and such, the Pilgrims set a festive table.

They didn't have potatoes and apples at that time, nor did they have sugar and molasses to sweeten any cranberries they found, but they cooked up a good Thanksgiving Dinner just the same, I'm sure. And it was somewhat of a model low-fat, high fiber diet as well, when you stop to think about it, wasn't it? All those good vegetables!

And, turkey, traditional for the Thanksgiving Feast! Whatever the size of your family or budget, you'll find a turkey to suit you at our supermarkets just now, in great variety, from the larger Tom turkeys to smaller ones, as you choose. Choose also from among fresh, naturally raised, broadbreasted hen turkeys, self-basting turkeys, frozen, what have you, all at good prices and many at really low prices.

You may even order your turkey dinner, cooked to a turn for you, with the traditional "trimmings" at the deli counter if you don't want to stand over or near the stove!

If you don't want turkey for your Thanksgiving dinner, you might want to turn to the birds of another feather, especially if your group is smaller and you can't face the thought of all those leftovers. Baking hens and ducklings are offered at good prices, as are the smaller Cornish hens.

If you prefer ham for your Thanksgiving table, you've an array of choices, at good prices, from whole hams to butt or shank portions, from boneless to smoked hams. And there are also fresh pork picnic hams, and Boston butt roasts and other roasts. And the deli counters offer baked ham dinners as well! There are also beef sirloin tip roats and other cuts-so, whatever your choice, you'll find it!

You'll find oysters for that "stuffing" for the turkey, also, along with sausage and ground meat, if that's your preference.
And, you'll find potatoes, white or sweet, and those sweeterthan-sweet Louisiana yams as well. Here's one way I like to fix those yams, when I'm not "candying" them. Here's: YAMS AND APPLE

BAKE 4 tart apples, peeled, cored, thinly sliced

2 lbs. sweet potatoes or yams 1/2 cup apple juice

3 tsp. lemon juice 4 tsp. butter or margarine.

Toss the apple slices in the lemon juice. Arrange layers of the potatoes (peeled and halved lengthwise, then sliced thinly), and the apples in a baking dish or casserole, ending with sweet potato slices.

Pour the melted butter and the apple juice over, cover the dish and bake in a preheated (350 degree) oven for an hour, then remove the cover and continue baking for 15 minutes

Broccoli, cucumbers, mirlitons and varieties of squash beckon from the produce bins, ready to round out the Thanksgiving meal. And, in the canned goods department, look for those tiny green peas and cut beets on sale.

Although I prefer fresh vegetables for the most part, I like the canned petit pois peas better than the fresh peas; and, if I cook up fresh beets, I'll likely be eating them until almost Christmas! So, I often combine drained, sliced canned beets with white onion rings and chunks of celery for a quick salad.

Of course, there's canned cranberry sauce for your turkey, but there also are fresh cranberries in the markets if you prefer to cook up your own, or make a relish or such. Apples galore, along with mandarins, oranges, tangelos and grapefruit are in good supply, as are persimmons and bananas.

For an easy, tasty salad, just combine orange and grapefruit sections with sliced onions, in an oil-and-vinegar dressing, or in a sweeter dressing if that's more to your taste. With the varieties of lettuce offered at the markets, you could also toss a simple green salad, combining red leaf and green leaf or Boston or tender leaf lettuce or Romaine, now featured at the markets, along with the usual iceberg, in a dressing of your choice. Or, try:

Hawks lose title hopes

Special to the Echo BY BELINDA LILES

The Hancock Hawks were put out of state playoff competition Friday night by the Laurel Tornadoes by the lopsided score

. Hancock coach Irvin Favre stated after the game that he would like to personally shake the hand of any 4-A team that beats Laurel this year. He also picks Laurel to win the state title this year.

The Hawks' highlights came early during the contest when it was apparent that they were really fired up. Hancock had the ball first and had to punt after three downs. The Hawk defense played tough and forced the Tornadoes to do the same.

Hancock took over on their own 38 after Laurel punted. Jeron Vince ran for 6 to the 42. Terrance Goff caught two Regan Ladner passes of 3 and 4 vards to pick up a first down on the 49. Bobby Doyle picked up 2 yards and Ladner completed a 17-yard pass to Ike Majors.

On the next play Laurel was flagged for pass interference, giving Hancock a first down on 15. The Tornado defense stiffened and the Hawks had to settle for a 32-yard field goal by Terrance Goff. The Hawks led 3-0 with 4:50 remaining in the first quarter.

Hancock managed to keep Laurel out of the end zone until late in the second quarter when Dennis Andrus capped off a 60-yard drive with a 7-yard run to score.

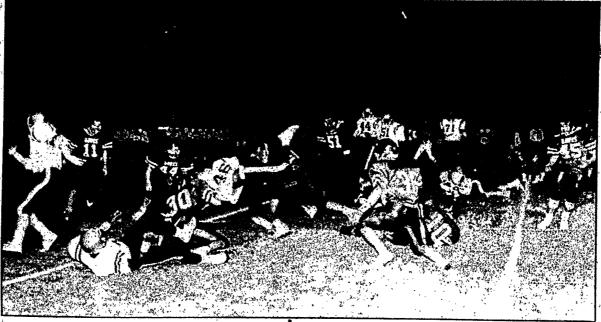

The PAT was good, giving the Tornadoes a 7-3 lead.

After four downs the Hawks were forced to punt from deep in their own territory where Hancock's nightmare began. Chris Roberts returned the punt for 54 yards and gave Laurel their second touchdown of the night.

The PAT was good, widening the Tornado lead to 14-3 for the final first half score.

Laurel got first up in the second half as their extremely large linemen and backs began to dominate the line of scrimmage. The Hawks were in for a real battle thoughout the remainder of the game but the District 8 champs still kept fighting, even though their efforts were in vain.

The Tornadoes scored a total of 19 second half points and completely shut down the Hawks' attack, thus bringing an end to a fine season for Hancock.

Favre said, "We knew that this team was a dominating force and we gave it our best shot. We tried to mix it up a little to keep them guessing but with a team this big and fast we just didn't have enough.

"I'd like to say that I'm really pleased with this team, as several times during the year we were outweighed but we fought back and won. This is the second time in two years that we won the district championship, and also the second time that we've made it to the second round of playoff competition, and that is a feat in itself. We finished the season with a 9-3 record and I'm real proud of the boys for the effort that they've put forth this year."

Favre ended by thanking the fans for their fine support throughout the year and said he hoped to have the same enthusiasm and support next season for the 1991 Hawks.

Bay and SSC oyster reefs open

Some Mississippi ovster reefs are now open for harvest after water samples taken from nyster-growing areas showed bacteria levels to be acceptable.

John Cirino, Bureau of Marine Resources shellfish program coordinator, said the St. Stanislaus and Bay St. Louis public reefs, located in the western Mississippi Sound, will be open for harvest.

Some reefs around Cat Island are also open, but oystermen must have written permission from island landowners to harvest oysters within 750 yards off the island shoreline. All bayous and tributaries on the north side of Cat Island will remain closed.

Oyster fishermen must check in prior to harvest at stations designated for each reef area and check out at the same station by 4 p.m. each day. The check station for St. Stanislaus, Bay St. Louis and Cat Island reefs is located at the

BMR trailer on the east side of Pass Christian Harbor.

Oyster, season officially opened Nov. 13, but heavy rains and localized flooding on Nov. 9, caused a delay in reef openings until BMR biologists could collect samples and determine whether bacteria levels had increased above acceptable

Heavy rains cause runoff that may carry sewage from the mainland over oyster reefs. If eaten by humans, oysters contaminated by sewage-related bacteria may cause such diseases as hepatitis and cholera.

Biologists are projecting a poor oyster harvest this year. Officials estimate this season will show no improvement over last season, when 15,000 sacks were harvested.

Additional information on the opening and closing of oyster reefs may be obtained by calling the BMR oyster hot line

Memorial recognizes not only your profession-alism — but your need to share in the important decisions governing nursing practice at MHG. That's why we have two very special programs in place to give the professional RN the power to improve the care-giving environment.

Through our Career Advancement Program (CAP) and Shared Governance, the nurse working at the bedside can continue to increase his/her level of knowledge, experience and involvement in professional activities as well as have a real voice in the management of nursing practice. Through CAP, the registered nurse advances through four levels of clinical expertise, receiving recognition and reward at each level. In Shared Governance, the nurse on the floor can gain decision-making power through several nursing councils.

Resident questions use of county equipment

BY TRACI BONNEY

The use of county equipment on private property came into question Friday as local resident Mary Helen Neal appeared before the Board of Supervisors.

Neal, who lives on the 2000 block of Washington St., said county equipment used to smooth a neighbor's private driveway more than a month ago.

The board asked Cuevas to explain the situation. Cuevas said the road the county smoothed was a private one, but it led to a graveyard. The county employees did the smoothing while they were in the area Working on public road maintenance.

Board attorney Gerald Gex told Neal that a statute passed in the 1990 legislative session allows the county to maintain 200 feet of a private road from the public roadway if the private road leads to a cemetery, be that cemetery public or green pepper, and saute until the onions soften, three or four minutes. Stir in the tomatoes and their liquid, then add the turkey, along with the salt, sugar, thyme, cayenne pepper, bay leaf and water (or stock). Heat to boiling, reduce the heat and simmer, partially covered, for an hour, perhaps another half hour if needed. Add the okra and cook for just five or six minutes more. Remove the bay leaf, and serve the Turkey Creole over rice. (Four servings.)

"but we said we would do it, and now we must."

"These are some terrific young people," added James. They are going to be alright."
Staff Sergeant Harvey Moody of Laurel had left his home and family November 12 when the 1355th was first called to alert. Too far from home to commute, he stayed the week in Bay St. Louis. Our mission is to supply DS, direct support," explained Moody. "That means we supply all needs from taking a shower to providing fuel.'

Moody said even though support is the role of the 1355th, each man is equally trained as a front line soldier. Depending on where they will be needed, the 1355th could provide support for any of the service branches.

Waveland resident Sergeant Glenn Fountain spoke of his three children. "I have two boys, ages four and two. They are too young to understand what is going on. They think I'm going to summer camp.

"But my wife and six-year-old daughter are taking it hard. I go home in the evening time and she breaks down, it's kind of hard for me to deal with Sergeant Enick Bell of Bay St. Louis will be leaving behind a wife and four teenaged children.

"My wife belongs to a family support group. She use to be in the Guard herself, so she knows what to expect," stated Bell. "As long as I go over there and come back safe. That's all she wants."

The men were joking Friday afternoon amongst themselves as they completed packing

Speaking of the job ahead of them, the men at the armory candidly spoke Friday of their hope for a peaceful resolve to the situation.

Members volunteered to make flower arrangements for the Diamondhead Academy Christmas Tour of Homes Dec. 8. The tour will also showcase the Diamondhead Academy 'Gourmet to Go' project, with foods available from the Academy cookbook. Margaret Hill and Garberg thanked members for bringing food staples for Thanksgiving baskets, which will be distributed to needy families.

The Diamondhead Garden Club entry won second place in year book judging and second place for scrapbook competition. The president thanked all who had a part in the effort.

Hostesses for the day were Vivian Carruthers and Eleanor Donahue. The next meeting will be the annual Christmas luncheon Dec. 19 at 11 a.m. This will be a potluck-gourmet luncheon at the Diamondhead Community Center.

Following a brief recess, Brierly Acker introduced guest speaker Keith Hardison, director of Beauvoir:

Hardison presented a very delightful and informative talk on the history of the owners of Beauvoir and major changes over the years to the gardens and grounds. Present plans include returning the home and grounds to a historically correct version of the Davis period of ownership, 1879-1889.

Excavations have been accomplished to determine the exact location of the formal gardens and kitchen. Future excavations will take place in the rear yard of the home.

A new roof is being installed to duplicate the original roof of the house, with slate being purchased from the same quarry as the original slate that was used. Copper nails and copper gutters will also be used for authenticity as well as durability. The Diamondhead Garden Club has contributed toward the plantings at Beauvoir over the years.

Veterans Day 1990

Emotions well as residents honor soldiers

BY TRACI BONNEY

Flags flew and feelings flowed Monday as veterans, their family members and survivors gathered to commemorate Veterans Day.

The activities - co-hosted by Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post 77 of Waveland, Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 of Bay St. Louis and all the veterans organizations in south Hancock County included a parade and a ceremony at Post 77. Rep. Gene Taylor was the featured speaker at the ceremony.

The parade, which was well-attended, included the St. Sta-nislaus College and Bay High School marching bands, the St. Clare School drill team, march-ing groups from Trinity Christ-ian Academy and Waveland Elementary, Waveland Fire Department units, veterans organization dignitaries, Miss Poppy and Little Miss Poppy from both American Legion posts, a color guard and 50-person marching unit (which carried the state flags of all 50 states) from Keesler Air Force Base, and others.

At the post, politicians greeted constituents and friends socialized while everyone waited for the ceremony to begin. One woman, thinking about the meaning of the day's activities and their significance in light of the current Middle East situation, said with a lump in her throat, "I don't cry. I get full up; I guess others do, too.

"We've just had too many wars." After the posting of the colors, saluting the flag, Pledge of Allegiance and invocation, the ceremony's spotlight was turned on Taylor.

He said one thing about war strikes him as being horribly consistent. "Parents lose their children; children lose their parents. Wives lose husbands; husbands lose wives. Sisters lose brothers; brothers lose

He urged those present to remember the troops in Saudi Arabia in their prayers that night and said, "Hopefully, Hussein will realize he's going to lose this and will back out of

Taylor also stressed his belief that the government must continue strong support of veterans and their families, even in the face of budget cuts.

Taylor's speech, which received a standing ovation, was followed by the playing of "Taps" by SSC band members Billy Sayunders and Icel Process. Billy Saunders and Joel Ducote, and the retiring of the colors.

Ladies clad in pink smocks donated an average of 553.92 hours of volunteer service each month last year at Hancock Medical Center.

A recent luncheon at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club recognized the unselfish giving of time and talents by the Hancock Medical Center Auxiliary. New hospital administrator Don Henderson presented the ladies with achievement pins and certificates.

Ina Piazza and Edna Kleinpeter were congratulated for 25 years of service to the hospital. Auxiliary president Theresa Bourgeois logged the most hours, 1,250.

Accumulating 1,000 hours each were Ursula Favre, Edna Kleinpeter, Phil Lagasse and

Billie Tudury. Recognized for 700 hours of voluntary service were Clara Arnold, Ğenevieve Cole, Bobbie Goodell, Betty Kielty and June

Dorothy Bielstein, Dorothy Corales and Grace Hunter each worked 500 hours in the last Contributing 300 hours each were Goldie Bevens, Tootsie Bookhardt, Millie Brodtman, Betty Burnett, Bernice Gruber, Beverly Mahe' and Alice Winchester.

One hundred hours were donated by Beulah Benigno, Ruth Chambers, Dorothy Zimmerman, Evelyn Perre' and Shirley Clemons.

From November 1, 1989 to October 31, 1990, the ladies spent 6,647 hours at Hancock Medical Center.

Among the many projects of the auxiliary are the construction of activity bags, which are distributed to young patients. Some 130 bags were given to children during the last year.

The cloth bags are filled with toys such as rattles, soft stuffed toys, story or coloring books, crayons and pencils.

Donations of white or pink cloth or any of the above materials are needed by the Pink Ladies, and may be left at the information desk at the hospital.

Mississippi sings for the U.S.

Dozens of famous singers have been born in the Magnolia State. Many of their songs have received world applause. The King of Rock & Roll is on the top of the list. Elvis Presley was born in Tupelo.

Mississippi has produced other music royalty. The King of the Blues is B.B. King from Itta Bena. The Father of Country Music is Jimmy Rodgers from Meridian. Mr. Gospel Music himself is James Blackwood from Ackerman.

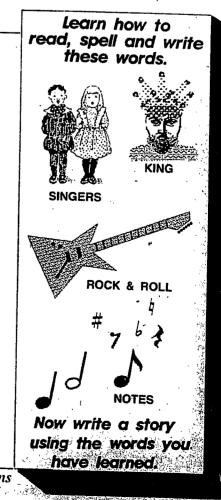

The list seems as long as the opera notes of Leontyne Price, who is from Laurel. Among the country music singers are Charley Pride from Sledge; Mickey Gilley from Natchez; Tammy Wynette from Tremont; Conway Twitty from Friars Point; and Moe Bandy from Meridian.

Have you heard of Jimmy Buffett, Son Thomas, Lester Young, Dorothy Moore, Mose Allison, Muddy Waters and Bo Diddley? These and other Mississippians have helped the rest of the world shake, rattle and roll to music.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Our Lady of the Gulf Church was the setting for the October 6 wedding of Nikki Renee Asher of Bay St. Louis and Marcus Edwin Rowe of Bay St. Louis. Father Pete Mockler officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs.
Dale Schill and Mr. Roy J. Asher, both of Bay St. Louis. The groom is the son of Dr. L. Conrad Rowe of Pass Christian and Ms. Ann Rowe of Birmingham, Ala.

Music was provided by organist Olive McKenna and soloist Lana Noonan. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bridal satin with a v-neckline, Alencon lace bodice heavily beaded with iridescent sequins and pearls, and leg-of-mutton sleeves. The v-back featured a large candy-box bow at the waist over a beaded applique bustle. The full skirt extended to a chapel train with beaded Alencon lace

Her two-tiered elbow-length veil was secured in a double-pouf by a wreath of pearls and crystal beads.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white satin roses and white sweetheart roses, accented with silk lily-of-the-valley and pearl sprays, picot ribbon and jubilee gypsophilia.

Bonnie Baxter was maid of honor, and Danielle Marquez was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Rutledge, Claudine Cassidy, Holly Bishop and Hayden Larroux.

Attendants were identically attired in floor length dresses each fashioned with black velvet bodice, pour sleeves, dropped waist, iridescent emerald taffeta skirt and v-back with bows at the waist. Their hairpieces were barrettes of miniature burgundy roses with seed pearls.

They carried lace nosegays of burgundy sweetheart roses, accented with emerald picot ribbon and seed pearl sprays.

Flower girl was Sarah Prince, and the ring bearer was Christopher Trosclair.

The flower girl wore an iridescent emerald taffeta dress with pouf sleeves, a dropped waist and a bubble hemline skirt trimmed with lace. She wore a barrette identical to those worn by the attendants, and carried a lace basket of burgundy sweetheart roses and emerald picot ribbon.

Best man was Ronnie Rowe. Ushers included Garland Rowe, Norman Rowe, Neil Rowe, Bill Marquez and Jim Rogers.

Mrs. Schill chose for her daughter's wedding a navy silk brocade dress with off-the-shoulder lace collar and accessories to match. The mother of the groom wore a fuschia satin dress with a bow at the waist, adorned with a jeweled pin and matching accessories.

A reception, catered by Old Towne Coffee Shoppe, followed the ceremony at the Jourdan River Shores clubhouse. A rehearsal dinner was held the eye

A rehearsal dinner was held the eve of the wedding at Angie's Restaurant.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Cancun, Mexico before making their home in Bay St. Louis.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Loving isn't easy

Euphoric and jaunty, with my van full of furniture donated by a generous friend in Baton Rouge, I cruised into New Orleans and let down from Interstate 10 onto our street. Governor Nicholls.

Driving past the rectory, my heart sank when I scanned the broken glass lying under the carport. Immediately, I knew that my old companion, the Chevrolet Celebrity, had been hotwired and stolen.

"No, it doesn't happen just to other people," I reflected. This time around, it was my turn to experience the shock, the unexpected loss, the wrenching feeling of having been violated and invaded, the gnawing sense of insecurity about the future.

Never again could I be clinically detached from any story about a burglary, break-in or robbery.

There was not a trace of excitement in my pulsebeat or in any other bodily reaction. Still, I was fully aware that a dangerous, deep-seated rage burned within me.

At that moment I understood more clearly that it is much easier to talk about and wax eloquent about reverencing and opting for human life than to do the same, especially when that human life belongs to someone who has seriously violated human rights. Yes, loving isn't easy sometimes.

When Jesus told us, "Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you; bless those who curse you and pray for those who maltreat you" (Lk. 6: 27-28), he did not make loving any easier.

To the contrary, he made it a great deal more difficult, extending our human nature to the point where only the divine can help us.

Then, many people aggravate the difficulty by giving us the shaft and twisting it in our bodies. Under the goad of such provocations which add insult to injury and rub salt into our wounds, Jesus commands us to respect the life of the thugs themselves and to respect their physical integrity and overall well-being.

This, of course, does not prohibit us from defending ourselves with appropriate force and from hurting another, if need be, who threatens our safety or property.

There can be a fine line between defending our rights and violating the rights of others. In any case, we are commanded to respect human life.

This very moment, even as I write, I am fresh back from discovering that my rectory suffered a break-in early this morning. Someone entered through an upstairs window, ransacked parts of the rectory and took the cash from my trousers which were lying on a chair within ten feet of where I was sleeping.

If I was doing a slow burn with rage before, I am now boiling to the flashpoint of danger. I had heard a door slam, but thought it was Brother Bob Mauss who often passes by in the morning enroute to his social work at St. Mary of the Angels. Alas, it was not Bob, nor did I challenge the intruder. What if I had?

Loving is relatively easy until someone treads on our toes, inflicts pain on us, does violence to our agenda or way of life, or, especially, violates our rights and attacks our wellbeing.

This is true, even when the offender is someone near and dear to us. All the more is it true when a stranger assaults us or the things which we need for our journey through life.

Is nothing sacred? Why hit a church where the people have banded together to do good things both material and spiritual for themselves and for the community in which they live?

Apparently, the dopeheads and other ne'ver-do-wells could not care less, providing there is money for the taking. While respecting life, we must also be eternally vigilant for life's freedoms.

ATTENTION PARENTS

Coast Psychotherapy Associates are pleased to announce the opening of their Education and Learning Center at 317 East Second Street, Pass Christian. The center offers enrichment of skills and remediation of specific academic areas.

Services offered include:

LOOKING INSIDE

By Pastor Bob Guidry, Jr.

Blessed are the poor

In this tangled world where we live, simplicity is often a welcome and valuable sanctuary.

Perhaps the greatest of all simplicity is found in the words of Jesus. He had a way of summing up all that troubled those around him, and even the answer they were searching for, in just one simple phrase.

My purpose is not to complicate what Jesus has said, but to cause us to apply it to our lives. Knowledge is useless unless it is applied.

In Matthew 5:3, Jesus said, "Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of neaven. The Amplified Bible defines "blessed" as "happy, to be envied and spiritually prosperous, with life, joy and satisfaction in God's favor and salvation, regardless of their outward condition."

The blessing of God will cause us to have peace in any situation we may find ourselves.

Jesus said that if we were "poor in spirit," we would receive this blessing. The question is, then: How do we become "poor in spirit?"

The Greek word used here is "ptochos," which means "someone who is not sufficient in himself." It denotes a beggar, or someone with insufficient

We can all find ourselves in a place of physical insufficiency; however, Jesus is not talking about physical, but spiritual insufficiency.

In Exodus 3, God reveals himself as the all-sufficient God. He is everything we need.

There is probably no greater need in our lives than that of the spirit. God made us as spirit beings, but we do not have what it takes to function in the realm of the spirit without him.

It is only when we humble ourselves and recognize our spiritual insufficiency that the blessings of God flow.

God stands ready to pour out his blessings upon you. You only need to exchange your need for his provision.

Homophobia seminar offered at St. John's

There will be an all-day seminar on homophobia (fear of homosexuality in oneself or others) on Thursday, Nov. 29 at St. John's parish hall, 17th Street and Hwy. 49, Gulfport, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The event, entitled "Homophobia in Religion and Society," is sponsored by the Center for Homophobia Education, P. O. Box 1985, New York, N.Y.

Father Robert Nugent and

Sister Jeannine Gramick, facilitators, are widely published authors in a number of Christian periodicals.

The seminar is designed to promote sound education and discussion of issues surrounding homosexuality based on current scientific information and contemporary church teachings.

Fee for attending is $30 if pre-registering one week in advance at the above address.

Labor and Contractor Survey

and Registration

Due to the closure of the local employment office in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, Bay Cove Harbour is conducting a labor and trades contractor survey.

In this connection, names and availability of local trades persons and licensed suppliers and contractors (with preference to Hancock County) are being sought for registration in advance of expected requirement, on or after January 2, 1990 - subject to the successful passage of the Dockside Gaming Act on Tuesday, December 4, in Hancock County.

This advertisement does not constitute an immediate offer of employment or any contractural agreement of employment or agreement to employ. The register is to accumulate and compile a list of labor/ contractor/supplier availability to draw upon as construction and operations commence, advance, or dictate.

Registrations, resumes, applications, are being accepted from:

1. Contractors:

Road, dirt, utility, shell, bulkheading, piers, jetties, concrete, asphalt, construction, electrical, plumbing, roofing, wrought iron, heavy equipment, trucking, tug boat.

2. Individual

Heavy equipment operators, carpenters, fitters, welders, tackers, plumbers, roofers, laborers, mechanics, storekeepers, golf course greenskeepers, groundskeepers, dock workers.

3. Hotel/Restaurant/Club

All levels, including: maitre d's, chefs, kitchen help, bus boys, waiters/waitresses, barkeepers, cocktail waitresses, administration, front desk, auditors.

4. Casino

Experienced, registered casino personnel all positions; casino apprentices and floor operators, administrative assistants.

5. Professional/Office

Safety engineers, accountants, reservation and promotional personnel, administrative assistants, public relations, telephone solicitors, nursing staff (R.N., N.P.), computer operators, computer technicians.

Note: Bay Cove Harbour is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
